

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a method for assisting the driver of a vehicle in his steering activity in which a steering torque can be imposed the steering wheel. In the method, an additional assistance torque M_{ASS} is applied to the steering wheel, by which the driver of the vehicle is assisted in driving in one lane.